Navy, Marines Will Conduct Interviews
Despite Riot Threat

MADISON (AP)—The Central Intelligence Agency and the U.S. Air Force have called off plans to recruit on the University of Wisconsin campus in the face of threatened antiwar protests.

Announcement of the cancellations was made Friday despite assurances by the university that 200 riot-trained sheriff's deputies and policemen from 21 counties would be on hand Monday to maintain order.

"It was their decision, not ours," university President Fred H. Harrington said.

The Air Force, Navy and Marines were scheduled to conduct interviews Monday and the CIA was to be on campus Nov. 27-29.

Police Guard
A university spokesman said the Navy and Marines planned to go ahead with interviews Monday on the campus, scene of a violent antiwar protest Oct. 18 against Dow Chemical Co., maker of napalm.

The beefed up police force will be on hand Monday, undersheriff Vernon Leslie of Dane County said Friday night.

The mobilization of officers was arranged through a "mutual aid" program of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association on a request relayed from the university's police force.

About 150 student protesters termed the CIA decision to cancel interviews a "victory" and vowed to attempt to block the Navy and Marine recruitments.

Nixon Says GOP to Ask Negro Vote

MADISON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, who said he would like to win Wisconsin's 1968 GOP presidential primary, told a student audience Friday the Republican Party will bid strongly for Negro votes next year.

The former vice president left Wisconsin after a round of speeches and talks with state Republican leaders, and without saying whether he would seek the party's presidential nomination.

About 500 students were present at the University of Wisconsin talk in which Nixon said Republicans plan to campaign on the needs of Negroes.

GOP candidates, he said, will emphasize a lack of progress in "jobs, housing and education for Negroes, as distinguished from symbolism like open housing and school busing."

He called Wisconsin's April 2 presidential preference primary one of the nation's most important, and added: "I want to win it. I expect to win it."

Suspected Nazi Chief Waits Business Boom

PANAMA (AP)—The tired, old peddler suspected of being Adolf Hitler's last Gestapo chief has shambled out of the limelight a free man and says he expects his business of selling ties and combs to benefit from his international publicity.

Francis Willard Keith, who informants claimed was Heinrich Mueller, boss of Adolf Eichmann, went to the home of a well-known Panamanian family after the government released him Friday following 76 hours confinement.

The family said it had known Keith since the time he says he arrived here in 1940, five years before Mueller was last seen in Hitler's Berlin bunker just before the collapse of the Nazi regime.

'Not Germans'
"I have never been in Germany. I'm not German," Keith told newsmen in clipped English. "I would not be ashamed to be German. I'm Scotch by race."

Turks Warn U.N. Unchecked Cyprus Fighting Will Spread

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant says Turkey warned the United Nations to stop the battle on Cyprus last Wednesday or else the crisis would "go beyond the borders of the island."

Thant reported the warning to the Security Council Friday night and appealed to all concerned to help restore calm between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Turks Buzz Island

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Turkish fighter planes zoomed low over the Karpass peninsula in northeast Cyprus today, violating Cyprus air space, and then flew off, a Cyprus government spokesman announced.

Turkey has been reported dissatisfied with developments on the island 40 miles south of Turkey since a battle Wednesday between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Turks and avoid any "repetition of such senseless and deplorable incidents."

In Ankara, official sources said the Turkish Parliament gave the government authority Friday to send troops anywhere abroad in case of "conflagration sent on military patrols through on Cyprus." They said the vote, in closed session, was 432-1 with two members abstaining.

Troops on Alebr
A military source said air force, navy and army units stationed in south-central Turkey, just 40 miles north of Cyprus, remained on the alert Friday.

Informal sources said Turkey protested through diplomatic channels, presumably to Athens and Nicosia, that the status quo on Cyprus had not been restored after the battle which left 25 Turkish Cypriots and two Greek Cypriots dead.

One complaint, they said, was that although Greek Cypriot national guardsmen pulled back from the embattled areas only Thursday, they since have been sent on military patrols through the Turkish section of the village of Ayios Theodoros. Four-fifths of the 600,000 Cypriots are Orthodox Christians, riots are Orthodox Christians of Greek origin and the rest are Turkish Moslems.

Soviet Conference
The Soviet ambassador to Turkey, Andrei Smirnov, conferred with Foreign Minister Ignace Sabri Caglayangil Friday.

The Soviet Union was reported to be urging Turkey not to use military force in the Cyprus crisis.

Diplomatic sources in Athens have reported that Turkey and Greece massed troops on their common border within hours after the Cyprus fighting broke out but withdrew them the next day.

Simultaneously, AP Correspondent John Lengel reported fierce fighting with North Vietnamese troops on the flank of South Vietnamese paratroopers and rangers were locked in heavy fighting nine miles north-east of Dak To.

Viet Cong Repelled
The new fighting came as U.S. artillerymen repelled a mass Viet Cong charge on their positions in the Mekong Delta.

SAIGON (AP)—Heavy new hill fighting broke out today nine miles west of Dak To in South Vietnam's embattled central highlands where American forces drove North Vietnamese troops from two strategic peaks Friday.

A battalion of the U.S. 1st Air-mobility Cavalry Division reported fierce fighting with North Vietnamese troops on the flank of South Vietnamese paratroopers and rangers were locked in heavy fighting nine miles north-east of Dak To.

Details were lacking as the fighting raged late in the day. Division officials could report only that there was heavy contact.

Foreign Aid Pared $1 Billion in House

Slash Close
On Heels of Passage Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's statement to the nation that Congress would make a serious error in slashing his foreign aid bill was followed shortly by a House decision to cut it by a whopping one third.

By a vote of 167 to 143, the House voted Friday for an appropriation figure of $2.196 billion, compared with the $3.226 billion sought by the President. If the Senate goes along, this would be the deepest cut in the 20-year history of foreign aid.

But Secretary of State Dean Rusk plans to appear Monday before the Senate Appropriations Committee in an attempt to restore at least some of the funds.

Coalition Vote
The measure, including provisions to restrict purchases of modern weapons by underdeveloped nations receiving the aid money, was passed by a coalition of 124 Democrats and 43 Republicans. It was opposed by 55 Democrats and 88 Republicans.

Action came only a few hours after Johnson, during a news conference on television and radio, said he felt it was "a serious mistake" for Congress to cut what he called a very low aid request at a time when the United States, richest country on earth, is enjoying great prosperity.

The aid program is for 100 countries and 5 territories in the year ending next June 30.

During the debate, an attempt to give the President discretion in making decisions on withholding economic assistance to underdeveloped countries buying sophisticated weapons was rejected.

This kept in the bill language sponsored by Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., to curb purchases of weapons such as jet planes and missiles system by underdeveloped nation by withholding economic assistance in common border within hours after the Cyprus fighting broke out but withdrew them the next day.

Romney Affirms Plan To Seek Presidency

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. George Romney, standing on a bathtub fall, most the exact spot where he launched his political career less than six years ago, announced today he will seek the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Coming nine months before the GOP national convention at Miami, the announcement arm she broke last week in a bathtub fall.

'Hard Look'
The announcement, ending year's "hard look" at his chances during which he came near a flat declaration often, followed a breakfast for 600 party faithful from around the state.

It was made in the same room where, as a sparklingly successful auto executive and prime mover in Michigan constitutional reform, he announced for the governorship in 1962.

Party reaction to the Romney announcement was certain to be mixed.

Two recent Associated Press surveys showed former Vice President Richard M. Nixon preferred by GOP state chairmen, national committeemen, and delegates and alternates to the 1964 convention that nominated Barry Goldwater.

Nixon Preferred
An October survey of the chairmen and committeemen showed Nixon preferred by 46 per cent, with 26 per cent favoring Romney, 14 liking New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and 7 for California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

A survey of delegates and alternates to the heavily conservative 1964 convention showed Romney running a poor fourth behind Nixon, Rockefeller and Reagan—in that order.

Romney is generally considered weaker in foreign affairs than Nixon, who said Friday that he wants to be a "decisive winner" of the primaries in New Hampshire, Nebraska, Oregon, Indiana and especially Wisconsin.

Despite the statement, Nixon said he would not decide until late January whether to make his second bid for the White House.

Tigers' Nick Schneider Scores 26 Points in Non-Loop Tilt

NEW LONDON — Nick Bulldogs jumped off to a 10-2 lead with 4:15 left in the opening stint. The all-Mid-Eastern Conference tackle tallied 12 points to assure the New London scoring lead with Greg Wing. Joe St. Marie added 11 for Coach Stu Corchaine's Bulldogs.

In the fourth period, the Tigers picked up three quick fouls without getting possession, but New London was able to make only one of a possible six free throws. The Bulldogs later took the lead, 48-47, with 2:38 remaining but the inability to build a cushion with the free throws provided the Tigers with the only edge they needed.

Schneider almost single-handedly wrecked the Bulldogs victory hopes in the waning moments as he scored six of Chilton's last seven points in the final 2:16 of the game.

Safety Tips Given

Deer Hunter Turnout Expected to Exceed Last Year's Total

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A the danger point," the agency state Conservation Department warned.

plane Friday brought 500 deer after Milwaukee County Clerk Clemens F. Michalski reported that his quota of 25,000 residence licenses was exhausted.

But even the additional 500 were all but gone by 5 p.m.

The Milwaukee case apparently was repeated in several areas of the state as Gene Roark, information officer for the division of conservation said, "We're overwhelmed with the demand for licenses, both resident and nonresident."

Roark said evidence indicated that the hunting turnout this season will exceed the 432,000-plus permits sold last year.

A resident license costs $5 and a nonresident fee is $50.

Roark said there was a heavy sale of nonresident permits in Illinois for the Wisconsin season, which opened today.

He said reports of high deer population, clear roads for less hazardous driving, and availability of party permits—to allow groups to get an extra deer—were all factors in the heavy number of hunters.

MADISON (AP) — The state Division of Conservation offered safety reminders Friday for an expected turnout of over $25,000 Wisconsin deer hunters ready for the opening of the season.

A herd of more than 700,000 deer will present targets in the nine-day season in which most of the pressure will be on the opening weekend.

"For those hunters whose only outing occurs at deer season, remember that cold days and hard exercise, coupled with less sleep and more to eat and drink than the hunter is accustomed to, can shock the system into illness or reduce efficiency to whatever Coach Doug Martin said in the locker room didn't take effect right away, since the hosts built up their string to 16 straight points by notching the first seven of the third segment.

With the score 34-20, Mark Eastwood broke the drought with a free throw and the Red and White went on to net 10 in a row, Jankowski getting seven. Oshkosh managed a final free throw for a 35-30 lead going into the fourth stanza.

Magedanz opened the last period with a basket, then Jankowski made two free throws. He shouldn't have had any since he missed the first chance but an Oshkosh boy was in the lane too soon and the Rocket senior had another chance, made it and the bonus as well.

Rockets Gain Lead
Craig Preston's long shot made it 37-31 at Magedanz popped in a reverse layup and Kopitzke scored a jumper for the lead point.

Jankowski paced the victors with 17 points. Magedanz had 16 and Kopitzke 14. The Rockets only received one point from their starting guards although Dan Blank, a letterman who was slated to be a starter, has a back injury and was unable to play.

Elbing led Oshkosh's balanced attack with 11 points. Al Janke made 10 and Tom Last nine.

Unofficially, Neenah hit 22 of 62 field goal attempts for 35 per cent while Oshkosh collected 16 of 66 for 24 per cent. The latter had a better free throw percentage, hitting 17 of 22 to 10 of 21 for NHS.

It was a typical ragged opener, with Neenah committing 22 turnovers and Oshkosh 19. The latter only had one in its first second period.

Visiposure Surest Route To Success

Man With Asset Can See Upward, be Seen By Those on Top

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Visiposure, it has been learned by computer, is one of the surest routes to corporate success, a clearly marked route up the corporate mountain.

The word is a combination of visibility and exposure, with visibility being the ability of the aspirant to see the top of the corporate Olympus, and exposure the position of being seen by the men above.

While others labor on the cliffs and crag of the rocky climb upward, those with visiposure mount the corporate mountain steadily, stopping on plateaus to study and learn for a couple of years—seldom more than five.

Success Examined

The word was coined by Dr. Eugene E. Jennings of Michigan State University, who studied by electronic computer the routes used by successful executives in some of the nation's largest and fastest growing firms.

He found that the ability of the upcoming executive to see and copy those who can influence his career, and to keep himself in view of those who might promote him, are all important.

In Jennings' view, the manager of the Nome, Alaska branch is likely to advance far more slowly than the department manager based in New York headquarters. The Nome man may be the better of the two, but he lacks visiposure.

This is just one of the findings that permitted Jennings to pick nine of 11 presidents chosen by top corporations last year from 203 candidates.

Skilled Workers Ratify Contract With Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Skilled tradesmen have ratified a labor contract with Chrysler Corp., ending fears they might block the agreement through their minority veto power in the United Auto Workers union.

The 12,000 tradesmen Friday night accepted the agreement by a slim margin of about 55 per cent, the UAW said. Earlier, the union's 83,000 production-line workers at Chrysler approved the three-year pact by a reported 70 per cent vote.

When Keokuk County authorities arrived at the farm house, they found Hammes standing in the hallway, holding the shotgun on Hephner, and Conrad standing nearby, in only his underwear shorts, holding a pistol. The 12-member jury found that Roland H. and Norma Winter, 2635 N. Union St., were 60 per cent negligent and that Mrs. Desa Loveton, 75, 614 N. Center St., was 40 per cent negligent in causing the accident.

AHS-W Survey Military Service Cuts Into Collegian Ranks

The percentage of Appleton of the class, conducted by the High School-West students who entered military service jumped from 5.99 per cent in 1965 to 9.23 in 1966.

"The constant student misconduct is a terrible reflection on the state of education in this country. Far too many students, instead of going to the universities and other institutions of higher learning with the fixed determination to learn as much as they can, and thus fit themselves to be useful and responsible citizens, appear prepared to accept early indoctrination in all kinds of wild political doctrines . . . adopted from foreign sources . . . a cross laxity of discipline . . . chaos in student government . . . lack of proper parental control . . . ever-growing practice of self-indulgence by young people . . ."

Youth From Kimberly Put On Probation

Sentence Stayed For Teen-Ager Who Admits Burglaries

Gerald L. Verhagen, 18, Kimberly, was placed on probation to the State Department of Health and Social Services for three years Friday afternoon following earlier pleas of guilty to four burglaries.

Raymond Hephner reportedly told Iowa authorities he did not know the man who escaped from the farmhouse. He said he thought the man was from Iowa City. Authorities reported recovering several items, including tools, a coat, and a cap, the latter of which Michael may have been wearing. The clothing was found some distance from the farm house.

Berge began working at Appleton Coated as an office boy while attending Appleton High School. He held several jobs in the office and in 1932 was making sales department calls in the Midwest. He opened the firm's Chicago sales office in 1933; became a director in 1948, and a vice president in 1950.

Mrs. Loveton brought the suit against the Winters, owners of the apartment building at 614 N. Center St., after she slipped and fell while walking down the steps at the building. According to the court complaint, she sought $25,000.

This is a total of 61 students from the graduating class of 614. The increase is believed due to unsettled world conditions and the effect it has on future plans of militarily eligible students.

The editorial in the Japan Times, mirrored in other leading Japanese newspapers, followed the wild demonstrations when Prime Minister Sato left Japan to visit the United States. A year each in the State Reform-moon before there had been bloodshed when he went off to Southeast Asia.

Verhagen was charged, following investigation by county police, with burglarizing The Par- adise Club, 4201 W. Wisconsin Ave., on Oct. 21; United Archery League, route 1, Appleton, Oct. 23; 41 Bowl, 3916 W. College before Prime Minister Sato's departure, they held all night movies where anyone could doze off. The majority of the demonstrators were represented at least as being members of the extreme left wing Zengakuren. They are not really interested in what agreements Sato brings back from Washington but use the trip as an excuse to protest any ties with countries other than Communist controlled.

The farmers told sheriff's deputies that a fish peddler had been at their home the afternoon of Nov. 8, driving a blue Chevrolet station wagon bearing Wisconsin license plates which were found to have been issued to a Fond du Lac man.

Others honored were Patrick Helser and Clarence Hoeft with a 30-year award; Eldor Rubbert, Daniel Witzke, Clifton Hughes and William Hietpas, 40-year, and Eva Mielke, 45-year. President John P. Reeve presented the awards.

Mrs. Loveton, who reportedly suffered a fractured left ankle plus back, head, and leg injuries, contended that the Winters were negligent in that the stairway was not properly constructed.

The percentage entering all branches of the service is the highest in five years.

Santa Plans to Greet Children At Valley Fair

It's official. Santa Claus will arrive at Valley Fair Shopping Center at 1:30 p.m. today.

Verhagen was charged, following investigation by county police, with burglarizing The Par- adise Club, 4201 W. Wisconsin Ave., on Oct. 21; United Archery League, route 1, Appleton, Oct. 23; 41 Bowl, 3916 W. College before Prime Minister Sato's departure, they held all night movies where anyone could doze off. The majority of the demonstrators were represented at least as being members of the extreme left wing Zengakuren. They are not really interested in what agreements Sato brings back from Washington but use the trip as an excuse to protest any ties with countries other than Communist controlled.

Conrad and Hammes said the fish peddler, who talked with them about antiques, had been to their house several times in the past. Conrad said he bought some fish Nov. 8.

Yule Shopping Set in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — The Chamber of Commerce has announced its Christmas shopping hours will begin Nov. 26 with retail establishments to be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday thru Fridays, and until 5 p.m. Saturdays until Christmas.

As a condition of probation, Judge Keller ordered that half of the restitution for all stolen and damaged property be paid by Verhagen and that the youth repay the county for the cost of his court-appointed attorney. Authorities have not yet determined the amount of restitution.

Local authorities sent several pictures to Iowa, and police there said the farmers picked out Michael Hephner's photos and said the description fitted that of Raymond's accomplice.

Decorations are scheduled to be placed across streets to coincide with the shopping season. Work will be done by city and utility crews. Stores desired final judgment is up to the ing green roping for decoration court. The case was heard can secure the material at the before Circuit Judge A. W. Chamber of Commerce office. Parnell.

The military service, it would appear, has also affected the labor supply, judging from the decrease in the number holding jobs.

Shooting at Fox From Car Costs Hunter $25

Shooting at a fox from an automobile cost Gary Athey, 27, Green Bay, $35, Friday afternoon in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Chilton Youth Arrested Friday In Green Bay; Father in Custody

Michael L. Hephner, 19, for-merly of Chilton and now living guilty by a federal court jury in Green Bay, was taken into Oct. 20 on three counts stem-ming from the April 17, 1965 a warrant charging him with robbery of the Withee (Wis.) being involved with his father in State Bank. The jury, sitting at the alleged attempted robbery of Madison, found him guilty of two Iowa farmers the night of robbery and two counts of Nov. 8.

Green Bay took the youth into custody on a city street. Offi-cials said he offered no resist-ance. Hephner was placed in the Brown County jail without bond pending further action by Iowa authorities.

The warrant charging Michael was received by Brown, Calu-met and Outagamie County police Friday morning from authorities in Keokuk County, Iowa, where the offense alleg-edly took place. The warrant, signed by J. R. Hermanstorfer,

To be Tried Separately
Michael Hephner is to be tried separately at a later date on a charge of aiding and abetting the $13,000 robbery and receiv-ing proceeds. His father was free on $10,000 bond following the guilty findings, to await a pre-sentence investigation re-medy. However, since his arrest in Iowa, the bond has been cancelled, and should he be released in Iowa, he would be taken immediately into federal custody to await sentence. The later charges against the

New Citizens Adopted Girls 'Adopt' U.S.

Four years ago this coming Dec. 18 two frightened and bewildered little Chinese girls were carried off a Trans-World Airlines jet at O'Hare Field, Chicago, to begin a new life in a new world. It was a sunny, blue-sky kind of day and a swirling snow storm the night before had given everything a thick, clean coat of that fluffy white stuff. Friday they became citizens of the United States of Ameri-ca.

Names Official
Now their names officially are Therese Mary Wessing and Bridget Mary Wessing, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart J. Wessing, 1718 E. Lindbergh St. Although both girls are of Chinese descent, neither were Chinese subjects. Therese, now a first grader at St. Thomas More School, came from Hong Kong and was a British subject. Bridget, a kindergartner at Huntley School, came from Macao, and was a Portuguese subject.

Response to Love
Both girls responded quickly to nourishing American food and loving care, so that they soon were acclimated to their new surroundings. As with all children, lan-guage was no problem, and the Wessings even learned a few words of Cantonese, the dialect spoken by Therese. Children learn well from other children and the Wessings' daughter, Christina, now 11, was an excellent teacher.

Within a year and a half the three girls had two brothers — Mark, born March 27, 1964, and Matthew, born April 8, 1965. But they were brought home from St. Elizabeth Hos-pital, not O'Hare Field. Therese and Bridget look forward to school every day. Therese is effervescent and loves learning new things. Bridget loves people and takes 20 minutes to go one block to school because she stops to talk and laugh with everyone she meets.

Music Club to Pick Officers
SHIOCTON — Officers will be elected and the coming band concert discussed when the Shi-octon Music Club meets at 8 p.m. Nov. 27 in the band room. All parents with children in the high school and grade school bands will be asked to attend.

Bergstrom Calls Fox River Pollution Schedule Too Tight

GREEN BAY — Standards go annually dumps its annual blooms of algae and other natural pollutants. The firm quoted the state's strong economy in Wisconsin, Appleton are too stringent, principle that says in cases brought about by a sound, Bergstrom Paper Company told where water uses conflict, "wa-ter quality standards shall be interpreted to protect the gen-eral public interest."

Officials of the Neenah-based paper manufacturer testified at a water quality hearing here that they found the standards proposed for the section of the river on which their plant operates "are extremely strong medicine."

The firm stated the standards are nowhere more stringent than those being proposed for the local stretch of waterway. "All five categories of the standards are being proposed for us," they declared, "and the time being proposed for the section of the river on which their plant operates is being proposed for us."

The Bergstrom statement called attention to the com-pany's own water treatment and anti-pollution efforts, including Highlands School the pattern has been similar in other parts of a $1.2 million clarifier system to treat water taken from the river and to clean water used in the manufacturing process before it is emptied into Little Lake Butte des Morts.

Agrees with Goals
The company firmly declared its agreement with goals stated in June, 1966, in a federal pollution control report for the Green Bay area. But Bergstrom officials added they believed it would be practical to attain these goals in stages only, "if reasonable installments and tim-ings can be allowed."

The company argued against setting requirements too stringent on local industry, and allowing too little time for reaching goals that might be adopted by the state agency. Agreeing that industry has re-sponsibility to help curb pollu-tion, the company declared it must also meet responsibilities to stockholders, employees and its community at the same time.

Such stringencies would not be enhancing, but rather depress-ing, to our northern Wisconsin area and its development," the company maintained. The statement also argued that it seemed unreasonable to set the highest category of requirements for the section of river into which Lake Winneba-

Judges See Avenue in Best Attire
College Avenue wore its Sun-day best Friday... for a good reason. A panel of judges from the Wisconsin Section of the Ameri-can Society of Professional En-gineers was in town to inspect the reconstructed and beautified downtown.

Appleton is one of three cities picked as finalists in the "Engi-neering Award of the Year" competition. More than 50 Boy Scouts from several city troops swarmed onto the avenue shortly after 7 p.m. Thursday and "policed" the entire area. They plucked paper and other debris thrown into planters by litterbugs who did not use the containers.

By the time they went over the 9-block stretch in fine-tooth-comb fashion, the business district looked spic and span. Civic Gesture
Ald. Roy Porter, 14th, chair-man of the city council, street sanitation committee, praised the Scouts "for their fine civi-lization."

City Engineer Robert Pfeiffer said the youths from nine different troops deserved the thanks of the entire community. Scouts who cleared up the Trinity Avenue included Troops 29, 3, 5 of the Explorer Post; 5 of St. Theresa Church; Troop 9, St. Pius Church; Troop 67, VFW Post; Troop 15, Zion Lutheran Church; Troop 18, Richmond School; Troop 66, Good Shepherd Lutheran Church; and Troop 75, Our Savior Lutheran Church.

Several weeks ago the Rich-mond School troop launched a weekly Saturday morning anti-litterbug program on College Avenue as a community service project. The Rev. James Kruth, pastor of both churches, will be general promotion of the derby and she has received a complete sports ensemble from the Knights of Columbus.

PTA Speech Outsiders Blamed For UW Protests

The head of the Madison of Wisconsin administration for Police Department said here taking the disciplinary action it allowed to us to meet these Thursday night the University of Wisconsin campus riot of last said law enforcement agencies month was well organized by an and the university president have "a complete understand-

Police Chief Wilbur Emery ing. "You might say we won the battle but they won the war," Chief Emery remarked. "The Dow Company stopped its re-cruiting interviews." He said there were some charges of "police brutality" but for the most part the law enforcement officers received plaudits for the manner in which the open defiance of the law was handled.

Chief Emery reported 32 of his men were injured and student demonstrators claimed 70 in-juries. He blamed the problem on a small minority and said the principal rioters were not all University of Wisconsin students residing on the campus.

Emery said much of the agitation could be traced to the East and inferred that some legal counsel for arrested stu-dents came from the same outside source. "When police officers are trained for riot control, it is basic that they are not the aggressors," Emery declared. "They employ defense tactics to overcome and split the riot force."

He said the Madison Police Department has jurisdiction on the campus. Emery said his department had advance warning of some resistance, expecting a sit-in or lay-down type of passive resist-ence. "We were caught by the element of surprise," Chief Emery said, of the all-out riot.

He said there is no objection to the true spirit of orderly dissent. Emery said the policeman of today is no longer a mere watchman or collector of crooks. However, he said enforcement in a community and public protection is only what the people want it to be. He urged more public cooperation and response, warning that those advocating rioting rather than orderly protest should be cause for general public alarm.

"It is foolish not to cooperate with your police department," Emery said. "You're merely creating problems for yourselves — all the citizens in a commu-nity."

Emery said law enforcement has never been more important in the United States than it is today. During a question period, Chief Emery gave frank an-swers and said more emphasis is needed on law enforcement and education.

With regard to the reckless attitude of some of the younger generation, Emery said, "We must take the blame as parents. Perhaps, John Q. Citizen has been sitting around too long and just watching without speaking up."

Progress made in industrial engineering over the past two years was traced this week by Elio R. Rotolo, New York, president of the American Insti-tute of Industrial Engineers (AIIE), speaking at the Conway to the Fox River Valley Insti-tute's chapter.

The speaker stressed that the progress paralleled the growth of the AIIE during the past 20 years since its beginning in 1943. He pointed out that the main reason for the growth of the chapter was the problem facing today's indus-trial engineers is "unimaginative."

Young Hephner's father, Ray-mond H. Hephner, 41, route 4, Chilton, is being held in the Keokuk County jail at Sigourney, Iowa, on a charge of robbery with aggravation. Raymond Hephner was bound over to a grand jury earlier this week and has been unable to post $5,000 bond. No date has been set for the grand jury appearance.

Iowa officials, in a letter to Outagamie County police, noted that since the charge against the younger Hephner is a felony, no bond can be set. The message stated that if Hephner does not waive extradition, Iowa authori-ties will proceed to extradite. Raymond Hephner is awaiting.

According to the investigation report that accompanied the warrant, the incident occurred about 9 p.m. Nov. 8, after two men came to the farm and asked for gasoline for their disabled car. After Hammes, 37, gave the pair two gallons of fuel, one of them reportedly pointed a revolver at him and ordered him into the house.

Waits with Shotgun
Conrad, 50, who was still in the farmhouse, reportedly be-came suspicious of activities outside, and when the trio entered the house, he had a .12 gauge shotgun waiting. A struggle ensued, and at least two shots were fired, neither of them hitting anyone. The farm-ers reportedly were able to subdue Raymond Hephner, but Turn to Page 8, Col. 1

We Don't Need Any More Members At Good Shepherd

Good Shepherd Lutheran will have its fifth birthday on November 26. We give thanks to God Who has made it possible through His grace that we grew from 67 communicant members in 1962 to our present 450.

That's why we really don't need any more members at Good Shepherd to meet expense and to help substantially to spread the Gospel in the world. We have a going operation.

But you may need Good Shepherd badly. If you have once been affiliated with a church but have strayed away; or if, indeed, you haven't apprehended the love of God at all as expressed in the Bible, joining Good Shepherd can well be the most important decision you will ever make in this transitory life. In other words, are you really aware that "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" — and really aware of the enormity of that love?

Won't you think it over—and then visit Good Shepherd any Sunday to hear the Word of God; or call the pastor for a friendly discussion?

Air Pollution Legislation

The bill passed by Congress to initiate a federal-state program to combat air pollution may in the long-range turn out to be one of the most constructive acts of this legislative session.

It combines short-range powers to deal with smog crises with a long-range program to clean up dirty air. Under the short-range provisions, when smog reaches the emergency level in any area, the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare is empowered to seek court injunctions to stop traffic and shut down offending industries until the crisis is over.

The long-range provisions direct the secretary to designate air quality regions in which governors of the states involved would be given the choice of setting up and enforcing anti-pollution programs or having the federal government step in and do it for them.

In this latter respect Wisconsin is in a position to do the job for itself. In anticipation of just such a federal statute the Wisconsin Legislature at this session enacted an air pollution statute. It is somewhat general in its provisions, since this represents somewhat of a pioneering effort in state legislation. It directs the

Better Name Needed

This is an age when governmental titles often receive more weight than the substance of what is being described by the titles.

The Assembly expressed such a worry when it rushed through a bill which would forbid the state's new district vocational and technical schools from calling themselves community colleges. The bill was prompted by a request from such a school in Madison asking permission of the State Board of Vocational, Technical, and Adult Education to start calling the school a community college.

For the past several years, there has been a worry in the Legislature that the new district schools represent something of an end run by educational planners to establish junior colleges in Wisconsin, still an unresolved question at the highest level of planning. No doubt this concern resulted in the prompt Assembly action on the special bill.

Supporters of the idea of changing the name of the Madison school say it should be approved because the title of vocational school no longer is accurate to describe what is being taught and because there is a chance graduates will lose out on job opportunities merely because of the title on their diplomas. Broader Political Base

The staff director of finance for the Republican state committee relates in a current publication of the party the surprising and reassuring fact that there are now about 100,000 individual contributors of money to the party in Wisconsin.

The meaning of the figure can best be understood by noting also that only half a dozen years ago, as Mr. Bagley tells it, there were fewer than 3,000 persons thus listed as providing actual financial help to cover the operations of the headquarters organization, the financing of principal candidates for public office, the year-around publicity efforts directed at party loyalists as well as the uncommitted public, and the numerous other expenditure requirements of a latter day, viable political organization.

Comparative figures for the rival Democratic Party are not at hand, but the annual reports of its expenditures, considering the aggregate increases alone, suggest strongly that it has also succeeded in broadening the financial base of its operations. The numbers of givers may not be easily compared, moreover, for as Republican Chairman Fish has explained, he has installed the "united fund" approach in his own organization for the convenience of party givers, and perhaps for more economical handling of party funds. Thus active and willing Republicans are solicited less frequently, even as civic organizations have found that a united appeal best serves the interests of community charities and those who are willing to contribute to them.

Grant, the People's Candidate

Quoted from the Appleton Post for Nov. 14, 1867.

The name of General (Ulysses S.) Grant is being put at the heads of the columns of scores of papers throughout the North, and primary assemblages of the people are nominating him (for the presidency) by acclamation.

This is the way it was done in 1828 when General (Andrew) Jackson swept the land; in 1840 when "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" overwhelmed the political schemers; and again in 1848 when old "Tough and Ready" was put in the presidential chair.

The people everywhere are for General Grant because General Grant is for the people.

● EARTHQUAKES 1966
Pictured here are sites of earthquakes throughout the world in 1966. The greatest quakes ever recorded were off the coast of Colombia-Ecuador in 1906 and in Japan in 1923.

Scientists call 1966 a "dry year" for earthquakes in the United States because there were only two quakes of magnitude of 6.75 or above on the Richter scale. Note the predominance of quakes in California and along the West Coast in this map of damaging earthquakes in the United States last year.

There Are Earthquakes Every Day
But Only Few Do Great Damage

BY HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
WASHINGTON (AP)—There will be an earthquake today, somewhere. There will be one tomorrow, just as there was at least one yesterday.

It may be so light that only sensitive recording instruments will record its motion. It may shake houses, rattle windows and knock cans off store shelves. It may be strong enough to cause property damage, death and injury.

Betting that there will be an earthquake on any given day is like betting that there will be a sunrise. There are several million quakes each year, thousands each day.

A major portion each year — 81 of every 100 — center around the rim of the Pacific Ocean, but they can occur anywhere. No region is entirely free of earthquakes.

An average 700 have enough force to do damage, but most are in unpopulated areas.

When they hit where people live, the destruction can be awesome. The worst in 1966 killed 2,529 persons, caused 1,500 injuries and made 108,000 homeless in eastern Turkey. Twenty or more villages were razed and the town of Varto, almost destroyed, had 500 deaths.

Eleven countries had earthquake-caused fatalities in 1966. The total for the year was 2,968, not counting China which had deaths but didn't make a report.

In the year 1966, California as usual was the biggest American producer of earthquakes that could be felt without instruments. California had 114 such quakes. Alaska had 42, New Mexico 26, Montana 25, Nevada 11, Colorado 10, Washington 3, Texas 2, and Idaho, New York, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Virginia and West Virginia had one each.

Not enough is understood about earthquakes — many caused by volcanic shocks or faulting of the earth's rocks — for anyone to be able to predict where and when a shock will occur. But research is being conducted by the Coast and Geodetic Survey, as well as other public and private agencies. One of the most promising areas for this research is along California's San Andreas fault, where a weakness in the earth poses the danger of earthquakes at any moment.

The magnitude of earthquakes is measured through a complicated formula on what is known as the Richter scale. Any quake above a magnitude of 8 on that scale is considered "great."

HALF-MILLION KILLED
The greatest quakes ever recorded occurred in January 1906 off the coast of Colombia-Ecuador and in March 1923 in Japan. Both shocks were rated 8.9 on the Richter scale. Five violent quakes, from 1908 to 1935, killed over a half-million people in China, Italy, Japan and Pakistan.

In July this year, the death total from quakes was 467 — including 236 in Venezuela, 211 in Turkey and 10 each in Colombia and Algeria. The strongest of those four was the July 22 quake in Turkey, rated 7.7-7.8 on the Richter scale.

But this year, Aug. 19, set a record in quake statistics. That date marked the longest recorded period without occurrence of a "great" earthquake, one of magnitude 8 or above.

That record began with the March 28, 1964, Alaskan earthquake which had a magnitude of 8.5, caused 131 deaths and about $450 million property damage.

Scientists call 1966 a "dry" year because there were only two earthquakes of magnitude of 6.75 or above.

Until more is known about earthquakes, there is no way of telling what next year, next month — or even tomorrow — will bring. But someday, scientists hope, they'll be able to forecast quakes as easily as they can now predict rain.

People's Forum
Out of State Students
Should Pay Own Way

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am writing in regard to the disgraceful protest held recently at the University of Wisconsin campus at Madison. It seems a shame that us taxpayers have so much of our tax dollar going to this institution and have to put up with such goings on. Of the taxpayers people, I believe, less than 1 per cent approve of these actions.

The saddest part of this is that of the eight arrests made, one is a non-student and the other seven are from Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Virginia. The majority of all the trouble on this campus (including the questionable conduct of the editor of the campus paper, The Cardinal) has been solely caused or led by these out of state students. These students are using the Wisconsin tax dollar to cause riots in our state. Let them use their own state supported schools to cause trouble in.

Why can't our state tuitions be raised, for out of state students, so that they are completely paying their own way. Then if they cause riots they will have done it without any of our financial support.

I also back any automatic expulsion (and lose their draft exemption) for any student arrested and convicted for any campus rules violation.

Our university is crowded enough without these outside students using our tax money and even squeezing our own students out of school.

As a father of seven potential college students, an overburdened taxpayer and a veteran I protest against outside troublemaking students using any of our state supported educational institutions.

State Budget Being Balanced in Most Precarious Fashion

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Some years ago a University of Wisconsin economist startled an audience of politicians and others of ordinary vocabulary and learning when he described a proposed tax program as "eclectic". He meant that it was a variegated one, drawing upon a diversity of sources.

The word is perhaps not one that will be easily introduced into popular discourse, but it also fits the strange assortment of fiscal improvisations in the Republican administration's emergency school relief appropriation proposal. As this is written there is no assurance that it will be finally enacted into law, although for discussion purposes that assumption will be made here on the likelihood that the Assembly will concur in the reluctant but fairly decisive endorsement vote of the State Senate.

What is shown most clearly in Gov. Knowles' belated decision to expand the budget of appropriations authorized earlier in the year is his absolute determination to hold to the "no new tax" line, even if the contrived package he presents will appear like gimmickry to his critics and will draw down the estimated treasury surplus during his term to virtually nothing, by his own reckoning.

THE ELEMENTS INVOLVED

The program for an additional general school aid program plus special funds to distressed Milwaukee is based in part on the discovery that gift and inheritance tax estimates were inaccurate in the first instance.

While it may be readily conceded that calculating tax receipts over a two year period is a difficult business, the timing and the circumstances of this revision leave room for skepticism by the Administration's rivals, at the least.

Another feature of the package is the diversion of the receipts of the lowered tax on margarine. This was promised to the agricultural community for a new dairy science research building with a considerable hoopla last spring when the prohibition on the sale of colored margarine was repealed. One wonders whether the benefits of the Milwaukee special relief fund, considered only in a political context, will balance the resentment of the dairy farming community observing these manipulations.

DRAW ON INSURANCE

The governor asks also to draw down the state fire insurance fund, which already appears modest enough to outsiders, by $3 million in order to provide more money for his supplementary school budget. To municipal officials who know that those reserves represent their own premium payments, this will appear ironic, at the least. To the insurance trade, the proposal to protect the fund through a series of reinsurance contracts with private underwriters will raise the question of the essential validity of the shell of a program that remains.

What these proceedings mean is that the administration's early decision to provide a technically balanced budget without resorting to new tax levies was always a risky one. There were uncomfortable decisions, in the accommodation of that goal in the regular budget, as in the transfer of some of the operating costs of state institutions to county budgets, a fact that some local officials are only now discovering as they work out their local finances for the next year.

Two other factors should be understood in the assessment of the merit and the method of the supplementary spending bill.

TIME FOR PRESSURES

One is that it illustrates the hazards of continuing legislative sessions. If the 1967 Legislature had adjourned upon adopting the regular budget, or soon thereafter as did predecessors in earlier decades, the pressure for the new spending probably would not have built up. Nor would Knowles have been inclined to call a special session, even if it had built up.

Another relevant fact is that the so-called emergency spending of today won't be temporary. The $16 million now asked will be incorporated into the next state budget, and those beyond. Perhaps also the precedent of special and categorical help for Milwaukee will be expanded. Thus what the governor may or may not gain in his tax stabilization record this year, he or his successor will pay for in the need for more difficult budgeting and more taxation in the next biennium.

Thanks People Who Helped Farm Program

Editor, Post-Crescent.

This year the Appleton Jaycees again promoted the Outstanding Young Farmer program. The Jaycees engaged in this program to foster better urban-rural relations by creating greater interest in, and understanding of, today's farmer and his problems. We naturally focus the spot light on the younger farmers but in doing so we wish to give recognition to everyone, in our community, engaged in agriculture.

Today's farmer, like any businessman, must be an astute individual to survive. He is faced with many problems, the increased labor costs, rising prices of farm implements, the increase in the costs of fertilizers, seeds, livestock and the complexities of distribution and marketing plus many other unique problems. The overhead of the farmer is staggering. It takes $5 of capital to produce $1 of annual sales. Many times the farmer is getting only about 3 per cent on his investment; this is approximately one-half to one-third the return the successful manufacturer considers profitable.

The man on the farm today is still a highly individualized man. Translated into practical terms this affects him principally in three ways: (1) He cannot adjust production to demand, (2) a comparatively small surplus produces a drop in prices, (3) his costs remain rigid while his commodity prices decline.

The farmer has many advantages to offset his disadvantages. He can set his own pace and standards; in short he's his own "boss". There is also the satisfaction for him in knowing that in his work lies not only his livelihood, but the very life of his nation, and the world.

The Jaycees had a great deal of help in putting on this project. Our co-sponsor, the Appleton Appliance Co. has always cooperated 100 per cent, and this year was no exception. John Losselyong not only donated advice and money but also participated in our awards banquet. Four other Appleton businesses participated in our project. Roland Marx from the George Walter Brewing Co., the firm of Long, Wiekert and Karel, the Appleton Building and Loan and Fox Valley Harvestore Inc., to all of them a big thank you.

Our nominators were most cooperative sending us 30 nominees, all of whom were excellent, and all uniquely qualified. We are extremely proud of Emery Beckman this year's outstanding young farmer and also Duane Wussow and Allen Bohl, our runners-up.

The most difficult task fell on our panel of judges, Bob Schroeder, Walter Klandermand and Bill Shaw, who had to select the outstanding young farmer.

Many people who have contributed enormously may have gone unrecognized, to them we extend our regrets assuring them that we have neglected no one intentionally. Personally my greatest regret is that human limitations are such that I cannot thank everyone individually.

Hill Fighting Resumed in Dak To Area

South Vietnamese troops said they believed they had killed the executive officer of the 24th North Vietnamese regiment one of five Communist regiments believed operating in the area.

Rocket Barrage

The action followed a rocket and mortar barrage Friday night on a U.S. 4th Infantry Division artillery support base only five miles west of strategic Hill 1338, captured Friday by American troops after two days of bloody fighting. No casualties were reported in the 30-round mortar barrage.

U.S. headquarters in Saigon, updating casualty figures in the Dak To fighting that began Nov. 3, said 764 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the 15 days through midnight Friday.

U.S. casualties were put at 136 dead and 600 wounded for the same period.

In addition, headquarters said, American infantrymen have taken 12 prisoners and captured 158 individual weapons and 31 crew-served weapons.

Other heavy fighting was reported far to the south in the Mekong Delta.

Guerrillas Blasted

American artillerymen lowered their howitzers to ground level and blasted point blank into 200 to 300 guerrillas who twice stormed across a canal within 25 yards of the U.S. gunpit and knocked out one 105mm howitzer.

First reports listed 102 Viet Cong killed but only five bodies were found on the battlefield after the Viet Cong withdrew.

"We're listing 78 probably killed," a field officer said, after the American gunners, watching by flare - light, said they saw "groups and groups of enemy soldiers fall." U.S. C-47s dropped the flares to pinpoint Viet Cong charges in the early morning darkness.

"The rest of the bodies seen falling have been dragged away," a U.S. spokesman said, five initial reports listed five Americans killed and 38 wounded, after a U.S. security platoon of about 40 men was caught outside the gunpit perimeter and driven back.

New Operation

The guerrilla push in the delta, 60 miles south of Saigon, was against one of two artillery emplacements supporting several battalions of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops sweeping the area in a new operation called Kien Giang.

The Communists mortared the other emplacement, seven miles away, wounding 12 Americans.

The 78 Viet Cong listed as probably killed would raise to 138 the number of enemy soldiers claimed killed since the delta sweep began Thursday. Total U.S. casualties were put at nine killed and 92 wounded.

In the air war over North Vietnam, the third target in two days came off the Pentagon's restricted list and headquarters announced three jets were lost in heavy raids around Hanoi and Haiphong Friday.

Hanoi Radio reported U.S. jets raided populated areas in the port city of Haiphong again today and claimed knocking down eight planes and capturing a number of U.S. airmen.

The latest new target was a barge yard three miles southeast of Hanoi as northeast monsoons lifted enough to allow U.S. pilots to fly 109 missions in all Friday.

At the barge yard, bombs were reported on target, but dust and smoke prevented damage assessment, headquarters said. A spokesman said the yard contained 29 support buildings and three or four covered ways. He said it is rated as capable of producing 7 per cent of North Vietnam's steel barges that carry military supplies along the coast to Communist troops fighting in South Vietnam.

which the devout Mormon spent in prayerful seclusion. No such retreat preceded today's announcement, however, Romney is still an official of the church.

Long Campaign

Although undecided, Romney has been campaigning hard since his landslide re-election to a third gubernatorial term one year ago shot him to the fore as a presidential possibility.

Having traveled through 24 states since then, the Romney bandwagon is expected to gather a full head of steam within weeks. Romney aides have planned a series of appearances in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Vermont.

On a trip abroad next week, Romney will take him through Western and Eastern Europe and the Far East, including Southeast Asia.

Romney, born in Mexico of poor Mormon parents who fled the country, is settling about in this country to avoid persecution at the Massachusetts Gent of their sect, represented eral Hospital in Boston, taking the aluminum and auto index life easy. The last time I saw him in Washington after work, he was in Beverly Hills, he was his way through the University of Utah and George Washington University.

He went to work for Nash-Kelvinator in 1948 and rose steadily to become chairman of American Motors Corp. when it was formed by the merger of Nash and the Ford Motor Car Co. six years later.

Stabilize d

AMC was financially shaky when Romney took over, but American troops after two days of bloody fighting. No casualties were reported in the 30-round mortar barrage.

The firm's financial troubles, have returned since Romney's departure. AMC Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr., said Friday its losses for fiscal 1967 will be "very close" to $70 million.

Like many a man thrust into the national spotlight, Romney has stirred frequent controversy in the past year and his standing has fluctuated in public opinion polls.

He was criticized last winter for refusing to take a stand on Vietnam, then spelled out his position in a speech at Hartford, Conn., April 7.

He said then it was "unthinkable that the United States withdraw" and added that the nation should use "military force as necessary" to cut off supplies from the North and erect "a military shield for the South."

Seek Negotiations

He added, however, that this country must continue to seek meaningful negotiations and must "learn from the lessons of this tragic war to avoid similar involvements in the future."

Over the Labor Day weekend, Romney told a television interviewer that he had been "brainwashed" by U.S. military and diplomatic officials on a 1965 visit to Vietnam from which he returned declaring the war "morally right and necessary."

Although Romney has never contradicted the basic tenets of his Hartford speech, the brainwash charge created a furor.

The Detroit News, one of his staunchest backers, accused him of "blurt and retreat tactics" and called on him to abandon presidential ambitions.

Generally considered to have a good record on civil rights, Romney has been questioned about the fact that his church does not permit Negroes to be priests. He has said he would quit the church if it prevented him from doing "those things for social justice I thought right."

Housing Law

The governor worked for a statewide open housing law, but the bill that is now before the state legislature has an uncertain future.

One of the facts of Romney's life, rather than his comments on issues, could cause him trouble in any campaign and that is the fact of his birth.

As recently as this week, U.S. Rep. Emmanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, called for a court test of Romney's eligibility to run for President.

The U.S. Constitution requires a president to be a "natural born citizen" but does not spell out whether someone, like Romney, who was born of U.S. citizens abroad, qualifies.

Sheinwold Insurance Man Plays Safe

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

As this appears in print, Willard Keith, one of the best-known insurance executives in this country, is settling about in the Massachusetts Gent of their sect, represented eral Hospital in Boston, taking the aluminum and auto index life easy. The last time I saw him in Washington after work, he was in Beverly Hills, he was his way through the University of Utah and George Washington University.

West led the queen of hearts. Keith played low from the dummy, and East strained with the nine. This was encouraging them for several years and no doctor seems able to help me.—L.L.

A childblain is the result of exposure to cold, damp weather. The tissues have been damaged.

Dr. Molner

When they are exposed to cold, then afterward, when the flesh warms up, you have redness, swelling, itching, after a burning sensation.

The best answer, and really the only effective one I know, is to keep feet, toes, ears warm. It means wool socks, mittens rather than gloves, earmuffs, whatever is necessary. If you can prevent the chilblain areas from becoming chilled, you will be spared the discomfort when they warm up.

The same thing can be true of frostbite, the type of damage being much the same, except that frostbite implies exposure to severe cold weather. Chilblains come from less severe but prolonged exposure to damp cold. (Dampness, as well as wind, can be an important factor in frostbite, too. It's more than just a matter of temperature. Dampness and wind increase the danger at any given temperature.)

Wife, 79 Others Aboard, Uninjured In Dynamite Blast

CHICAGO (AP) — A manager of a bottling company, accused of trying to blow up a jet airliner with his wife and 79 other persons aboard, was held today in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Earle T. Cook, 37, arrested Friday by FBI agents, strode into the hearing room later with a checkered gray overcoat pulled over his face, and stood silently as a U.S. commissioner read government charges against him.

A federal indictment charged that Cook placed a dynamite bomb, triggered by a clock mechanism, aboard an American Airlines Boeing 727 that his wife was taking from O'Hare International Airport to San Diego, Calif., on Nov. 11.

The bomb exploded as the plane flew over Colorado at about 34,500 feet—but all the dynamite did not ignite and the bomb damaged only the baggage compartment without piercing the aircraft's hull.

The aircraft landed safely at San Diego. None of the 74 passengers or crew of six was injured.

Child's Worth Not Reflected in His Unfortunate Background

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an officer in Job's Daughters and we are having a big dance in a couple of months. I want to ask Chuck who is one of the nicest, most mannerly fellows in the whole school. All the kids are crazy about him.

I was very surprised when my mother told me I should not ask him because it might injure my reputation. Chuck lives in a foster home and this is what my mother has against him. She says all kids in foster homes have parents who aren't married, or they are alcoholic, or in jail, or they don't want the kids. According to her, the family is trash no matter how you look at it.

Is she right? I am just sick over this. — So Disappointed

Dear So: It's not true that all kids in foster homes have parents who are not married, alcoholic or in jail. Some foster children are orphaned, or they have only one parent who is unable to care for them. Even if the boy did come from the type of home your mother described, it would not necessarily mean that he is no good. Kids who have unfortunate backgrounds need acceptance and kindness from people like you — to prevent people like your mother from breaking their spirit.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just finished reading the letter from the woman who screamed bloody murder because her husband retired and is now sticking to her like glue. Some people don't know when they are well off. Eight out of 10 wives in the U.S. would be thrilled to trade places with that woman. We included.

Ask her how she would like to sit alone every night wondering where her husband is and what he is doing. Ask her how she would like to worry about whether he turned over in a ditch because he was drunk.

I could write a book about what I've gone through with a husband who let me know early in our marriage that he had no interest in me, his home or his children. Whenever I hear a wife complain because her husband spends too much time around anything your little heart desires.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read in your column that it is not necessary to wait until cataracts in the eyes become "ripe" to operate and remove them. Would you explain this again? —Mrs. R.C.

It used to be believed, years ago, that cataracts should be allowed to become "ripe" — that is, that the lens of the eye should become thoroughly clouded. (That's what a cataract is — a lens that has become cloudy.

With the relatively crude instruments and methods years ago, the surgeon could see the cloudy ("ripe") lens more easily. Actually, of course, the lens can be removed any time it proves to be necessary.

Many people postpone operation as long as they have enough eyesight to let them get along fairly well. But someone doing very fine work requiring sharp vision is wise to have the cataracts removed sooner — as soon as the cataracts interfere with his work.

Dear Dr. Molner: Every night I use a sun lamp on my face for 10 minutes, as per instructions. I would like to know if I am being exposed to radiation, such as from radioactive sources, that would be harmful to my health. —V.J.G.

No, ultraviolet light (either from the sun or a sun lamp) is not radioactive. It's a form of radiation, but of ultraviolet light, not gamma rays as in the case of radioactivity.

Too much ultraviolet can be harmful to the skin, but in moderate amounts will do no harm. (Always remember to protect your eyes with goggles; shortwave ultraviolet can be harmful to the eyes.)

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for send for Dr. Molner's booklet, "You And Your Gall Bladder." Dear Folks:

Here's a little tip I'd like to give you when you cook hamburgers (and most of us cook it pretty often!):

When you're preparing hamburger meat (especially if it's frozen), leave it out on your drainboard until it becomes room temperature. . . .

Then take some onion salt or onion powder — it comes in a bottle and can be bought at any food store — and sprinkle lots of it in. It seems as if cut or grated onions in hamburger patties usually burn. Onion salt and powder won't. And you get the same flavor.

I also put lots of ground pepper in it. Along about this time you can add a dash of hot sauce, steak sauce, or just about anything your little heart desires.

Squash it up (I use my hands, but you can use a fork) until it becomes soft and "ushy." Then cook away.

Glory be! Does this ever change the taste of that plain old hamburger patty!

When You Give a Party Make Puzzle Place Cards

BY CAPPY DICK

When you give a party, make place cards that are in the form of puzzles. Each guest's name is reproduced as a rebus. To find his place at the refreshment table he must go from card to card until he finds the rebus that forms his name.

A rebus is a puzzle in which a word or a name is represented by pictures, symbols and so on.

Two examples of how these place cards can be made are shown in Figure 1 and 2. In Figure 1 the place card for the guest named Robert is composed of the word "Robin" with a minus symbol to show that "in" must be subtracted, and a plus sign to show that "Albert" must be added and another minus sign showing the "Al" should be taken away. The result will be "Robert".

The place card for a guest named Wilbur is shown in Figure 2 where a picture of a document labeled "Last Will" calls for the addition of an object that is a will. The two together represent "Wilbur".

Study the names of your party guests and you will be able to create rebuses for them all. Monday. Lots more good fun for every boy and girl!

Entry fees are $2 per band member and will be returned to bands found unacceptable for entry. Entries should be mailed to Neenah-Menasha Jaycees, P.O. Box 42, Neenah, Wis. Those accepted will be notified by Dec. 1.

Early entries will be considered in deciding eligibility, officials cautioned. Prizes will be $100 for first place; $60, second, and $40, third. In addition, the first place winner will be sent on an expense-paid trip to Milwaukee to compete in the state "battle of the bands."

School Board To Consider Houston Trip

1,000 Petitioners Seek Reversal of Orchestra Decision

NEENAH — The board of education will meet at 4:30 p.m. Monday in a special session to further consider sending the Neenah High School String Orchestra to a musical clinic and conference in Houston, next April.

On Nov. 6 the board ruled that the orchestra would not be permitted to accept the first place national honors it earned in a nation-wide tape contest sponsored by the National Catholic Educators Music Association, April 23-25.

As a result of a number of personal telephone calls and receiving approximately 1,000 names on a petition to reconsider, the board held a hearing last Tuesday, giving the Neenah music parents an opportunity to express their views. No decision was made at that meeting.

There has been a careful sifting of all the facts in the case for the highway department. Bid matter, Supt. Donald Scott said late Friday when announcing the special meeting. "The special meeting has been called to

Police Capture Runaway Pony After Chase

NEENAH — A small brown and white pony, prancing down S. Park Avenue around 7 a.m. today was finally captured by Neenah Police and Town of Neenah Constable George Anderson. But the owner still hadn't been found late this morning.

Anderson called the police when he saw the small animal running loose near his home. Neenah policeman Joseph Bludau and the constable chased the pony across fields until they finally cornered it on a nearby farm.

Anderson tied up the horse in front of his home at 1213 S. Park Ave., and police set out trying to find its owner.

Closer Supervision

Graf pointed out the program should have closer supervision than his office is able or trained to give. The department is paid an extra $25 to administer the program but the job has become quite time consuming, he said.

When the highway department began administering workman's compensation in 1951, most of the program concerned highway employees. However, the county hospital now accounts for a large percentage of the payments, Graf stated.

The committee members, Graf, and County Auditor M. H. Morrisette will study the change with County Corporation Counsel Gerald Engeldinger and a representative of the county's general insurance carrier. A special session to settle the administration of the program may be slated next month.

In other action, the committee decided to continue the same type of fleet insurance coverage for the highway department. Bid specifications are now available and bids must be metered by Dec. 15.

Group Urges Decision on DA Assistant

Committee Wants December Action On Full-Time Aide

An answer from the Outagamie County Board Executive Committee on the request for a full-time assistant district attorney will be pushed by the courts and justice committee.

The courts committee Friday instructed its representative on the executive committee, Supv. George Greisch, to push for a recommendation to the county board from the executive committee in December.

The request for a full-time assistant was referred by the executive committee to its personnel subcommittee in October.

A bill of $150 from a Milwaukee psychiatrist, who had been scheduled to testify in a case of Appleton, was denied by the courts committee. The appearance of the psychiatrist was canceled one week before the appearance date in court. However, he billed the county on the basis of lost time.

The committee felt the week's cancellation notice was sufficient time and the county was not liable for the bill.

Strip Judge's Car: Was Thief's Aim

Wheels, Revenge?

OSHKOSH — The wheels and a spare tire from the car of a Winnebago County Judge were stolen from the car while it was sitting in the judge's garage early Friday morning. Oshkosh police said today.

"It looks to me more like a professional job than a vengeance case," said Judge James V. Sitter of Winnebago County Court Branch III.

Police said the wheels and spare tire were valued at about $325. The judge believes the theft took place sometime between 1 and 4 a.m. this morning.

"They apparently came into the garage, used my own bumper jack to raise the car and left," the judge said. He said the auto's aerial was broken off and light damage was done where the jack was used to raise the vehicle.

"Other than that, there was nothing. They must have just been after the tires," the judge said.

Chilton Youth Arrested for Robbery Try

Sought in Valley Area; Boy's Father Also in Custody

Michael L. Hephner, 19, formerly of Chilton and now living in Green Bay, was taken into custody about 6 p.m. Friday on a warrant charging him with being involved with his father in the alleged attempted robbery of two Iowa farmers the night of Nov. 8.

Green Bay took the youth into custody on a city street. Officials said he offered no resistance. Hephner was placed in the Brown County jail without bond, pending further action by Iowa authorities.

The warrant charging Michael was received by Brown, Calumet and Outagamie County police Friday morning from authorities in Keokuk County, Iowa, where the offense allegedly took place. The warrant, signed by J. R. Hermansdorfer, justice of the peace, alleges that Michael, "on or about Nov. 8," in Plank Township, Iowa, "committed an aggravated offense with a dangerous weapon in the dwelling of Elmer Conrad and Kenneth Hammes, while armed with a revolver during a burglary attempt."

Bound Over

Young Hephner's father, Raymond H. Hephner, 41, route 4, Chilton, is being held in the Keokuk County jail at Sigourney, Iowa, on a charge of robbery with aggravation. Raymond Hephner was bound over to a grand jury earlier this week and has been unable to post $5,000 bond. No date has been set for the grand jury appearance.

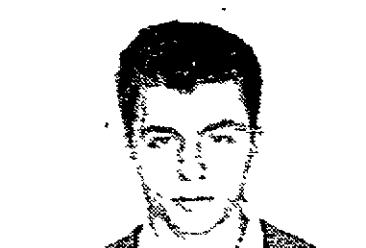

Iowa officials, in a letter to Outagamie County police, noted that since the charge against the younger Hephner is a felony, no bond can be set. The message stated that if Hephner does not waive extradition, Iowa authorities will proceed to extradite. Raymond Hephner is awaiting sentencing after being found guilty by a federal court jury Oct. 20 on three counts stemming from the April 17, 1965 robbery of the Withee (Wis.) State Bank. The jury, sitting at Madison, found him guilty of robbery and two counts of abduction.

Michael Hephner is to be tried separately at a later date on a charge of aiding and abetting the $13,000 robbery and receiving proceeds. His father was free on $10,000 bond following the guilty findings, to await a pre-sentence investigation report. However, since his arrest in Iowa, the bond has been cancelled, and should he be released in Iowa, he would be taken immediately into federal custody to await sentence.

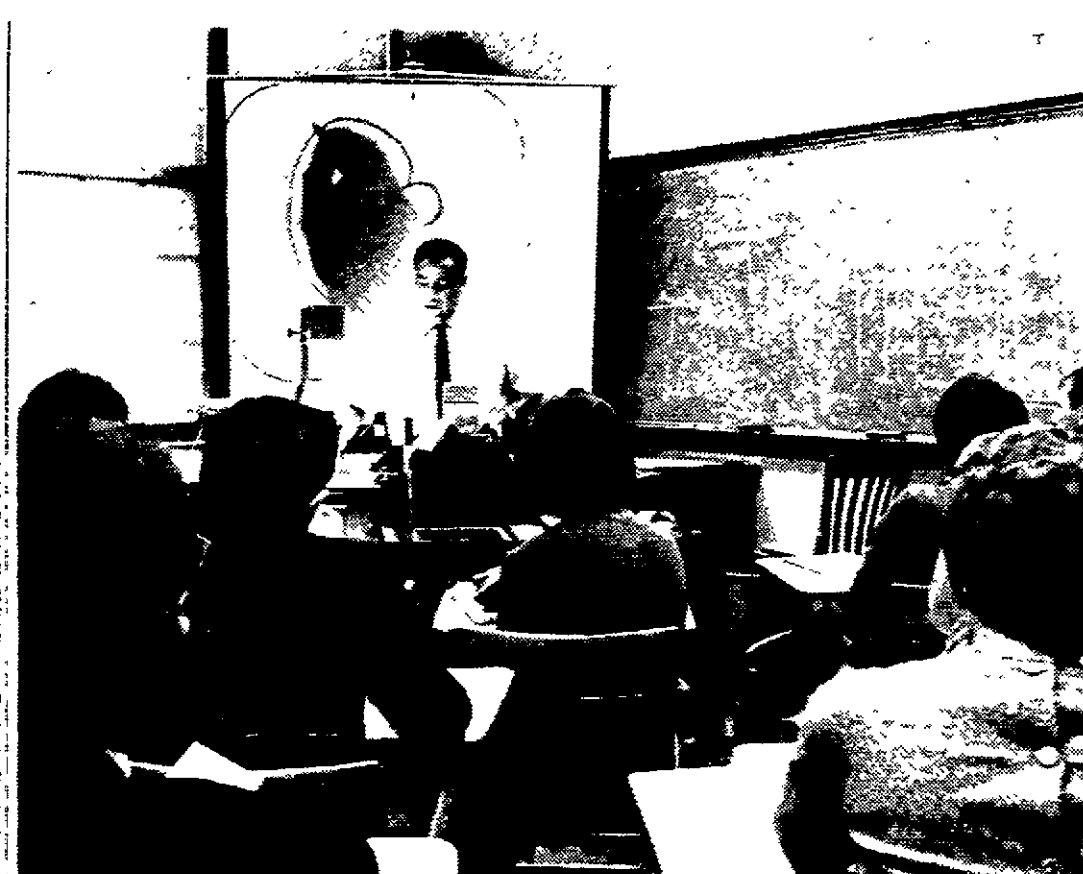

The later charges against the father and son stemmed from the attempted robbery of Conrad and Hammes, bachelor farmers who live 8 miles southeast of Sigourney.

According to the investigation report that accompanied the warrant, the incident occurred about 9 p.m. Nov. 8, after two men came to the farm and asked for gasoline for their disabled car. After Hammes, 37, gave the pair two gallons of fuel, one of them reportedly pointed a revolver at him and ordered him into the house.

Conrad, 50, who was still in the farmhouse, reportedly became suspicious of activities outside, and when the trio entered the house, he had a 12 gauge shotgun waiting.

A struggle ensued, and at least two shots were fired, neither of them hitting anyone. The farmers reportedly were able to subdue Raymond Hephner, but

Trailers at AHS-W

Teaching Aids on Display

New audio - visual equipment trailers are open to all area teachers who would like to visit the units after school, 3 p.m. Monday. It will begin in the AHS-W auditorium.

Three specialists, including an artist, a photographer-transparency maker and an electronics technician from the University of Wisconsin Extension Division, are there to demonstrate the many uses of the equipment.

"The purpose of this program is to show Wisconsin teachers how their classroom communications can be helped through an effective audio-visual program," said R. Jack Stickels, field director.

Only One in Country The project, paid for by the federal government and administered jointly with the Cooperative Educational Service Agencies (CESA) in the state, is the only one of its kind in the country.

To offer the best view of the techniques, the demonstration is individually programmed for each school. A specialist visits the schools before the trailers arrive and works with the teachers to determine the possibilities for upcoming projects.

"Needs might range from slides of Greek art to transparencies in several colors showing the parts of the human eye," Dr. Stickels explained.

Teaching devices include charts, maps and motion pictures. All these materials supplement the demonstration of visual-aids, including some 1,000 slides, 350 16 mm motion pictures, 100 samples of 8 mm film and more than 1,000 film strips covering a multitude of class subjects.

Overhead Projectors Facilities in the mobile classroom include overhead and film-strip projectors, a video tape recorder, TV equipment, copy cameras, single-frame film projectors and a cartridge projector.

Resource materials are provided to assist the schools in developing and maintaining an up-to-date audio-visual program.

The trailers will be at AHS-W through Wednesday. Workshops and demonstrations for both public high schools in Appleton have been conducted and the

'Jury Out' on Award

Judges Praise College Avenue

The jury is out on College Avenue.

Within a few weeks the City of Appleton will know whether it has won the "Engineering Award of the Year" for Wisconsin.

A panel of judges charged with selecting the No. 1 engineering project in the state during 1967 spent more than two hours here Friday afternoon.

Representing the Wisconsin Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, they conferred with city officials and then walked up and down the reconstructed College Avenue.

It was announced two weeks ago that the avenue reconstruction project and two others in the state were the three finalists in the annual statewide competition.

Seven Member Panel City Planner Walter Rasmussen and City Engineer Robert Pfeifferle were hosts to the seven-member panel, which to the man, had high praise for the rebuilt and beautified downtown.

The judges are Luther W. Graef, chairman, member of a Milwaukee engineering and architectural firm; Professor Ralph Boeck, Marquette University School of Engineering; Richard Dess, Wauwatosa city engineer; Robert Hart, an engineer and Milwaukee contractor; Ralph Larsen, a member of the Transport Co. staff; Eldon Schmidman, Wisconsin Electric Power Co.; and Professor Eldon Wagner, University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Decision Making

"Reconstruction of College Avenue represented a tremendous volume of decision making on the part of the city council and municipal departments involved in the project," Rasmussen told the judges' panel.

He recalled how in 1961 the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce established a committee to work with city officials to lay the groundwork for the major project.

"The biggest fight centered on getting rid of angle parking," Rasmussen explained, adding that the beautification program was also somewhat controversial.

He told how the city implemented a long-range plan to provide parking for downtown while also embarking on a multi-million dollar sewer replacement program in the core of the city.

"This all had to be done before we could tackle the avenue reconstruction which included digging up and replacing everything from top to bottom," Rasmussen said.

Pfeifferle explained the amount of engineering work that went into the project and the judges studied stacks of blueprints for the sewer, paving, lighting and beautification projects.

The judges were told once the contractor got on the job, the avenue reconstruction "went like clockwork."

And it was pointed out that in connection with the avenue project, the city also embarked on the construction of the new Soldiers Square Parking ramp.

The judges while touring the business district indicated they were impressed with its looks, along with the pedestrian and vehicle traffic flow.

"I can't conceive how you had any kind of a decent traffic pattern with angle parking," one engineer exclaimed, with others echoing his observation.

The judges viewed pictures of the avenue before reconstruction and were lavish in their praise of the design and beautification. Several times they stopped to inspect the planners, benches and kiosks — making favorable comments.

They were also impressed by the new building downtown, pointing to Prange's, the banks, Aid Association for Lutherans and others.

City officials had hoped to have the judges see the new street lighting system but were unable to turn it on until dusk.

A high-rise view of the avenue was provided when the delegation went to the top floor office of the Fox Valley Council of Governments in the Zuehlke Building.

Some of the judges made other observations — one in praise of the city's new Christmas decorations.

Deer Hunter Wounded Near Black Creek

Jon Pautz, 17, Hit By Slug Fired by Neenah Man

Jon Pautz, 17, Black Creek, was shot in the left shoulder about 9 a.m. today while hunting behind the C. F. Hoffman house along State 47 just north of Black Creek.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, after being transported by station wagon, with county police escort, to State 47 and County Trunk A.

According to sheriff's investigator, George Hanlon, Pautz was struck in the shoulder by a 12 gauge slug fired by Laurence V. Shupper, 25, 135 E. North Water St., Neenah, who told police this was his first year of deer hunting.

The Neenah man said he fired at a buck that was running behind a doe about 100 yards away in a brushy area. He said that Pautz, whom he did not see, told him after the shot. Shupper said it appeared that both deer had been hit earlier. He said Pautz had been five times at the deer.

Other hunters in the area took Pautz to a nearby house to State 47 on a stretcher they quickly made of poles and rope.

This was the first gunshot accident reported in Outagamie County since the season opened at 6:30 a.m. today.

The doctor attending Pautz said the youth is in serious condition. The slug struck a lung.
